Engaging Hearts & Minds for Extraordinary Results

“Perceptive, separating the critical from the non-important; warmth that inspires and motivates; she encourages new perspectives that bring sustainable positive change”

Carol uses her 25 years of successful corporate experience to build current and future leaders in fast paced and constantly changing environments. Both line and staff leadership roles have shown her the importance of balancing what gets done with how it happens. Her coaching allows clients to identify and grow the best in themselves, prioritizing strengths for greater achievement, success and personal fulfillment.

Carol Olson Johnson

Her coaching mixes relevant cutting-edge information with the tried and true delivering growth that is durable, useful and authentic. Finding techniques and tools that work best for a particular client comes from expertise gained through her varied and multi-leveled background. She can fulfill virtually any specific need or requirement

Carol has been a Peace Corps volunteer, a public school teacher, a manager in retail banking and a senior level Human Resources leader in U.S. operations of a global company. Her experience has given her credibility with a wide range of clients and incomparable insight into business challenges.

Carol has a BA from William Paterson University and done graduate work at the University of Wisconsin and completed coursework through Coaches Training Institute.
